

Mayor Tim King

Tim King has been involved in local body politics since 1998 when he was first elected to Tasman District Council. In 2001 he became the Deputy Mayor, a position he held until 2019 when he put his hand up for the Mayoral role.

During his time at the Council Tim has chaired the Council's Environment and Planning Committee which oversees the Council's regulatory programme, services and activities.

Tim is a past Director of Port Nelson Limited and is currently a Trustee of the Cawthron Institute, a Director of Chatham Island Ports Ltd and a member of the Kaiteriteri Recreation Reserve Board.
